

Introducing DevOps Techniques in a Software Construction Class (Mark Hills, ECU)

- DevOps techniques are becoming increasingly important in industry
- How do we teach these skills to our students?
- What challenges might you encounter along the way?
- Are there existing resources that can help?
- Please come to my talk, find out what we've done to help our students start to learn these techniques, and ask questions – I would love to get your feedback!